SANSIBAR

colored tumblers and bottles with fine line cuts

The art of glass making covers quite a range of techniques and skills. The talented and trained hands of our masters and workers create colorful, handy, elaborate, functional pieces. But most of all, they create beauty. They create the kind of beauty that needs the hand of a master. The double-layer glass comes to perfection, when the layers merge before the glass item gets blown. Each color reacts differently in the heat. The master knows how to handle.

Once the glass is blown, the master cutter takes over. His cutting wheels swiftly cut through the colored layer, uncovering the clear glass underneath. Free-handed he applies line after line on the piece. So, the pattern he creates is not uniform. Look closer and you see its inspirational vitality.

Knowledge, skills and the dedication to this wonderful craft comes together and creates beauty.
